SUBMITTAL TO THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS COUNTY OF RIVERSIDE, STATE OF CALIFORNIA

BACKGROUND:

In recognition of the need to transition to economic recovery, we continue to position the county to reopen businesses. Keep in mind, rescinding these orders does not negate the Governor's orders, as those are still in place. Any changes to the Governor's order will be provided from the state. The virus is still present within our county, California Department of Public Health and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), and county public health officials still recommend the use of face coverings, social distancing and frequent hand washing to reduce the likelihood of contracting the disease.

Through prior action, this Board created the Economic Recovery Task Force with leaders in the business community to work towards economic recovery. With 30 million national unemployment claims filed as of this writing, it is imperative that our residents get back to work. While we continue to work with our state partners to meet the Governor's six-point framework for reopening (including expanded testing, meeting the needs of our congregate care providers, and increasing our hospitals' capacity), we are rescinding the local public health orders.

With the assistance of our residents, Riverside County successfully prevented a surge of coronavirus patients within our countywide hospital system. With 50,000 tests conducted and counting, Riverside County leads the state in testing by having tested 1.9 percent of our population for the virus. The local Public Health Officer orders significantly slowed the spread of the disease within our county. This is evidenced by current hospital capacity and the lengthening of our doubling rate of the disease to more than 14 days. Other successful metrics include our current hospital bed census ranges between 60 and 65 percent of capacity and available ventilator capacity is approximately 70 percent. We thank our county team for their diligence, dedication, and response to this unprecedented pandemic.

We want people to be healthy, safe and have an income to support their families. Today's action creates the pathway for our residents and businesses to meet these needs.
